

TITUS Framework for the Professional Learning University

All TITUS Professional Learning University workshops, seminars, and content are based on a historical model for educating students. The framework's elements are informed by academic research, professional experience, and successfully implemented pedagogies. The elements are:

- Teacher Care
- Educational Collaboration
- Academic Content
- Community Consideration and Engagement
- High Expectations

Teacher Care

TITUS believes that teacher Care is a general approach to student-centered education that places an emphasis on the physical and academic well-being of all learners through high expectations of students' abilities.

Educational Collaboration

TITUS believes that educational collaboration exists when all stakeholders, inclusive of educators, administrators, families, and community members work together to ensure quality education is available to all learners.

Academic Content

TITUS believes that educators must achieve and maintain mastery in their content areas and specialties to ensure student success for all learners.

Community Engagement

TITUS believes that in order for students to reach their highest potentials, the community and school must work together to ensure students and their achievement are centered in the educational process.

High Expectations

TITUS believes that every educator must maintain high expectations for their abilities to reach and build upon students' inherent capacities for learning.
